Do you have enough money budgeted to get started in real estate?

Build up a safety cushion-

You should be able to cover your monthly expenses for three to six months without making a paycheck, says Robert Morris, ABR®, CRS®, a broker with Prudential Rowland Real Estate, Inc, in Murfreesboro, TN.

Set aside a business reserve-

In addition to the money for personal expenses, you also should set aside some money in reserves (it can be as little as $100 per month) for unexpected business expenses, say Chuck Bode, CRS®, GRI, broker-associate with N.P. Dodge Real Estate Co. in Omaha NE. "If something breaks down, you go into the reserves and you don't borrow money on a credit card at 15% interest," Bode says.
